Make History by Securing Naming Rights to the First and Only Children's Transition Care Center in the Nation

A $500,000 cash donation will ensure the Dream House Family for Keeps® Transition Care Home, in Lilburn, establishes a legacy.

Snellville, Ga. (May 28, 2010) –The Dream House for Medically Fragile Children, Inc. announced today it is making available naming rights to its original Family for Keeps® Transition Care Home in Lilburn, Ga. for a minimum cash donation of $500,000. This is a very unique opportunity to honor or remember someone special in a most significant way.

Children with very complex health care needs transition from hospital to home at this one-of-a-kind facility that operates under the first and only Children's Transition Care Centers (CTCC) license in the nation. Staying for periods up to 90 days, children with traumatic brain injuries or those surviving with the assistance of respirators and ventilators, to others left medically fragile from catastrophic accidents or illnesses, benefit from specialized services that help stabilize their health conditions, and provide a means to train their families and prepare their homes so these children can gain quality of life by living at home.

"This original Transition Care Home is the cornerstone of our patent-pending Transition Model of Care. It's time to acknowledge the historical significance of what Dream House is making possible for these children," said Dream House Founder and CEO Laura Moore. "Offering naming rights to the very first Transition Care Home creates a legacy that honors this great mission and helps even more medically fragile children find a home, a family and a future."

To express an interest or to discuss this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, please call Ms. Moore at 770-717-7410 x108 or email info@dreamhouseforkids.org by June 4, 2010.

About Dream House for Medically Fragile Children, Inc.

Dream House is a 501(c)3 children's charity teaching families and communities how to help kids with very complex health issues live at home. Heroic medical efforts save sick and injured children who would not have previously survived, leaving some medically fragile – fully dependent upon medications, equipment and therapies. Sadly, however, families and communities find themselves unprepared, unable or even unwilling to “deal” with the reality of the complex care these children require.

A critical first step for these children (biological, adopted or foster), and their families, is access to the innovative Dream House Family for Keeps® Transition Care Program. With local roots, this hospital-to-home program is setting the standard for the home care of Georgia’s medically fragile children. Dream House has been awarded the first and only Children’s Transition Care Centers license in the nation, after years demonstrating the transition care model with 100 percent successful outcomes.

Since inception in 2001, via the Family for Keeps® Transition Care Program, the Dream House organization has served more than 1,000 children in 47 Georgia counties. Awarded the 2009 Pinnacle Award and named a Best in America Local Independent Charity, by the Independent Charities of America, Dream House supporters invest in a mission that helps medically fragile children leave the hospital sooner. In doing so, their health conditions and quality of life improves, thus providing the State of Georgia, tax payers and health care institutions with a more effective and efficient way to meet these children’s needs.
